JEWELL IN CHICAGO, PAPERS SERVED

GREEK DEFEAT ONE OF MOST DECISIVE KNOWN IN HISTORY

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Official dispatches from Constantinople indicate that the Turkish nationalist forces have advanced to within about 25 miles of Smyrna and are advancing rapidly.

MALTA, SPAIN, Sept. 8.—The British cruisers Concord and Cardiff under command of Rear Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhit, are under orders to sail today for Smyrna. The entire British Mediterranean fleet is now concentrated in near eastern waters.

By Associated Press.

SMYRNA, Sept. 8.—Greek forces today were holding the line east of Sailhill, 30 miles east of Smyrna, it was stated in advices from the front, but there seemed little hope of stemming the tide of the general retreat of the Greek army under the Turkish nationalist thrust.

Deserters are arriving here by the thousands.

The Greek northern army, other messages state, is retiring from Brusa toward Panderland on the sea of Marmora.

By Associated Press.

SMYRNA, Sept. 8.—Only an eye witness can realize the extent of the disaster to the Greek army which is termed by many as one of the most decisive in military history.

An army of 150,000 men, well organized and equipped, has been transformed in less than two weeks into a virtual band of refugees.

An official Turkish says 400 Greek officers and 10,000 men have been captured since the offensive was launched, together with 600 motor trucks, 350 guns and a million rounds of artillery ammunition.

The Greek loss of morale is illustrated by the reported refusal of a battalion of reserves from Athens to disembark. A contingent of Senegalese which arrived yesterday on a French transport also did not land, owing, it is said, to some disagreement. The whole Smyrna hinterland has been ravaged by the Turks and refugees continue to pour into the city by the thousands. A Turkish airplane yesterday flew over the town and dropped pamphlets announcing the "complete liberation of Asia Minor."

The government archives have been placed on shipboard for safety and the Smyrna branches of the national bank and the Bank of Athens are closed.

A state of panic prevails throughout Ionia and the British high commissioner has telegrapher to Constantinople asking for relief supplies.

The foreign population is in trepidation lest the Greeks explode the immense stores of munition stored in the city to prevent them from falling into the hands of the Kemalists.

A number of American destroyers are anchored in the harbor, which with its concentration of warships of all the powers resembles the scene of a huge naval pageant.

The Standard Oil company has chartered a number of steamships to carry its property and personnel to safety and thirty ships are in readiness to remove refugees if necessary.

The Greek troops have taken up positions on the outskirts of the city.

EVACUATION OF ASIA MINOR IS A FOREGONE CONCLUSION

By Associated Press.

ATHENS, Sept. 8.—The evacuation of Asia Minor by the Greeks as a result of the successful offensive against their army by the Turkish nationalists, is accepted here as a foregone conclusion, although it has not been announced officially.

Meanwhile the cabinet has resigned as a result of the Greek reverses and a new ministry is in process of formation, King Constantine having asked former Premier Kalogeropoulis to get a new cabinet together.

Actual orders for the evacuation of Asia Minor have not yet been given, but General Dousmanos the chief of staff, is studying the problem so as to carry out the maneuver under the best conditions possible.

The troops will probably be taken to the islands of Chios, Mytilene and Samos in the Aegean sea where it is expected they will be demobilized and disarmed, a part of them being sent to Thrace.

A telephone message from the Greek commander in the field says that General Tricoupis, who had been appointed to the command, and General Digenis, were captured by Turkish cavalry, while they were proceeding to join the Greek corps at Alashehr, east of Smyrna. The taking of these generals with their staffs was not connected with the reported loss of their army corps, according to seemingly reliable information, this corps eventually retreating in the direction of Alashehr.

The third army corps which suffered the least from the nationalist pressure, retreated toward Brusa and consequently doubt is cast upon the reports that Brusa had been evacuated. That Brusa had been occupied by the nationalists was denied here today and it was declared the third corps had given up its position there.

Refugees from Symrna are already arriving here. Eight hundred of them were brought into Piraeus, the port of Athens. They were accompanied by a number of functionaries bringing the archives of the Greek high commissioner at Smyrna.

General Hadjanestis the deported Greek commander, has been given permission to remain abroad two months.

General Polimenakos has been appointed commander in chief of the Greek forces in Asia Minor following the capture of General Tricoupis.

Reports that King Constantine had left Athens are unfounded.

GOES TO GALLOWS WITH SMILE AFTER JOKING THE GUARDS

FORT MADISON, IOWA, Sept. 8.—Ira Pavey was hanged at 12:01 today.

Pavey mounted the steps to the gallows with a smile.

"So long everybody," he said, as they fixed the mask over his face.

"Warden, tell my mother good bye."

Pavey was absolutely without fear as the end drew near. He was led from the barred room where he had spent his last hours with his mother, Emma Pavey of Kansas City, and his two sisters. He refused to be accompanied by a priest, although he had talked with one early in the morning.

He walked to the corner of the prison yard, where the gallows stood, smoking a cigarette. At the foot of the gallows, he laughed and joked with Warden Hollowell and the guards.

Travel worn from a three days' automobile trip from Kansas City, the mother and sisters of Pavey arrived at the penitentiary early this morning, winning by a three hours their race with death.

In a voice broken with tears, Mrs Pavey asked Warden T. P. Hollowell to take her to her son. The women were exhausted from two sleepless nights on the road.

At dawn today, for the first time in 12 years the wooden gallows stood in the prison yard, erected last night to hang Pavey, sentenced to death for the murder of Claude Letner, of Sioux City.

GREATER EFFICIENCY AND PROMPTNESS IN HANDLING TAX URGED BY GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, Sept. 8.—An appeal for greater efficiency and promptness in handling state tax moneys was made by Governor Neff today, addressing the annual convention of Texas tax collectors. The convention also was addressed by Attorney General Keeling, John G. Willacy, state tax commissioner, and J. D. FauntLeRoy, state highway engineer.

"Every fifth man in Texas has not paid his last year's taxes," Governor Neff said. "This, together with delay by the tax collectors in sending in tax money, is the chief cause of the present deficiency in the general revenue fund. Approximately $3,000,000 is due the state for taxes at the present time."

Repeal of part of the full rendition tax law and rendering of property on a uniform percentage of value was advocated by Commissioner Willacy.

DRIVER OF CAR SAYS SACCO AND VANZETTI NOT GUILTY PARTIES

BOSTON, Sept. 8—The Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee organized in behalf of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, who have been convicted of a double murder at South Braintree two years ago, announced today that its attorneys were investigating a statement indirectly attributed to William F. Dodson that the two defendants had nothing to do with the murder.

Mrs Dodson, recently divorced, was quoted as having declared that her husband had told her he was the driver of the automobile that was seen leaving the scene of the murder and that the convicted men were not in it. Dodson is now serving a prison sentence for the theft of an automobile which by coincidence was owned by Judge Webster Thayer, who sat in the celebrated Vanzetti trial.

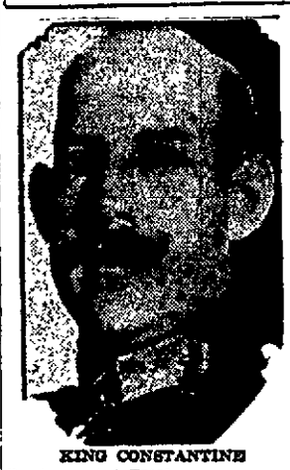
KING MAY ABDICATE



KING CONSTANTINE

By Associated Press

PARIS, Sept. 8—Rumors that King Constantine of Greece intends to abdicate are current in several European capitals. They are considered to have been given some color by the sudden recall of the Greek heir apparent, Prince George, to Athens from Bucharest.

King Constantine's abdication is regarded here as an increased possibility particularly as it considered the only method of getting former Premier Venizelos, Greece's war time leader, to return to Athens, form a coalition government, make an effort to restore order in Greek affairs, and regain a part of Greece's lost prestige.

FORTY ACRE LEASE NEAR THE HALMACK SELLS FOR $12,000

GRAHAM, TEXAS, Sept 8.—General Petroleum company, of Houston, Texas closed a deal Thursday selling a lease for a 40 acre block just north of the big Halmack well which came in Tuesday for better than 1000 barrels an hour, consideration $12,000. They will begin drilling this block at once.

The Halmack well is responsible for considerable activity among dealers and brokers and several new locations have been made. Prairie Pipe Line company has rushed a line to this well and is now taking care of the oil.

The rig on Carter No. 1 two miles east of Costello well, was destroyed by fire. A strong flow of wet gas was unexpectedly encountered at 1445 feet which ignited from the forge. The well is still burning. The gas pressure is estimated at 5,000,000 feet. The gas sand was found directly under lime and has every appearance of making a good well. The rig will be rebuilt and the well finished at once. Much interest is shown in the test by reason of prospects for production at this shallow depth. The location is in the southeast corner of Young county.

DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN TWO IRREGULAR LEADERS ADDS FUEL TO FLAMES

By Associated Press

DUBLIN, Sept. 8.—Disagreement between two irregular leaders operating in County Kerry is reported to have caused a sanguinary fight.

One leader named McCellistrum is said to have opposed plans for ambushing a food convoy en route to the relief of Killarney where the people are suffering from hunger as a result of their regulars' war on transports. Humphrey Murphy, another leader, differed from McCellistrum and the split spread to the ranks.

Irregular forces attacked a signal cabin on the Great Southern railroad between Dundrum and Limerick junction but the small garrison of national troops repulsed them.

NEW WELL EXTENDS 2300 FOOT PAY TWO MILES TO THE EAST

GRAHAM, TEXAS, Sept. 8.—Pinner & West struck pay at 2300 feet on the Costello land in Wild Bend, two miles east of Herron City, in Young county. The well is making 200 barrels and is of special interest since it marks an extension of the Herron City 2300 foot sand two miles to the east.

Labor Is Awaiting Outcome of Fight Against Injunction

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Assurances have been given by Attorney General Daugherty, according to information today from administration leaders, that the next meeting in Chicago of the striking railroad shopmen's committee would not be interfered with by the government under the federal court's restraining order.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Labor leaders here were awaiting today the outcome of their first legal move against the injunction obtained by the government in Chicago last Friday against the striking railway shop crafts—the suit of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, one of the striking organizations, to prevent the federal authorities from enforcing the provisions of the Chicago order.

The suit, filed in the District of Columbia yesterday and set for hearing tomorrow, assailed the legality of the Chicago injunction, questioned the jurisdiction of the Chicago court and denied that the plaintiffs had been guilty of any illegal act "before or since" July 1. The electrical workers were said to have acted without reference to the other six organizations on strike, but officials of the union said they expected both the temporary order and the permanent writ sought would have a nationwide scope.

Department of justice officials, while declining to comment for publication on the union suit, expressed the opinion unofficially that if the district supreme court should grant the temporary restraining order it would lead to wide possibilities of injunctions and restraining orders granted that court under the Sherman and Clayton acts being upset by courts of other jurisdictions.

It appeared certain today that administration conferences had led to the conclusion that provisions of the Chicago injunction which have been interpreted as tending to interfere with free speech might be modified in the permanent injunction when and if granted without sacrificing the broad purposes of the suit.

CHARGE STATEWIDE PLOT TO DESTROY BRIDGES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8.—Federal operatives today were investigating what U. S. Marshal Alva McDonald declared in his opinion was a statewide plot among certain striking railway shopmen to destroy railroad bridges and hamper operation of trains.

Within less than a month five bridges have burned in Oklahoma under mysterious circumstances. Other instances of tampering with railroad equipment, endangering the lives of train crews and passengers, have been reported.

Four men held here today by federal officers in connection with the burning of a bridge near El Reno, Okla., on the night of August 17 and Marshal McDonald declared confessions made by two of the men indicated a well founded plot among certain strikers to destroy bridges and terrorize train service crews with a view to bringing about a general walkout of railroad workers in the state.

The men under arrest were: Herbert Lansing, declared by officers to be a striker; Hamilton Earl White, said to be a former railroad employe; Roy Selley and John Keefe, all of El Reno. Lansing and White confessed firing the bridge and implicated the two other men, according to Marshal McDonald. Other arrests were expected.

NEWLY MARRIED COUPLE ANSWERS DESCRIPTION OF GLASGOW YOUNG PEOPLE

GLASGOW, KY., Sept. 8.—Reports from Nashville that a newly married couple answering the description of Miss Caroline Shuster, pretty 18 year old daughter of W. Morgan Shuster, president of the Century Publishing company of New York, and William Morris, 20 son of a Glasgow merchant, had registered at a hotel early yesterday, formed the only clew today to the whereabouts of Miss Shuster, who has been missing since Wednesday night.

Miss Shuster and Morris, who were reported to have left Glasgow in an automobile together Wednesday night, are believed to have eloped and the girl's mother, Mrs Pearl Trigg Shuster, has offered a reward of $100 for her detention, unmarried.

SENATE PASSES THE FACT FINDING COAL COMMISSION BILL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8—Completion of congressional action on the emergency coal legislation program neared today as the senate passed the fact finding coal commission bill. It acted on the anti-profiteering and coal distributing measure late yesterday. Both bills were sent to conference for adjustment of differences with similar measures passed by the house.

The senate decided to retain provisions providing the proposed agency to make a study of the "advisability or wisdom" of nationalization of the coal industry. The provisions had provoked heated debate but an amendment by Senator Dial, democrat, South Carolina, which would have struck them out was lost 39 to 19.

HARRISON AMENDMENT DEFEATED IN THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Further debate over provisions of the fact-finding coal commission bill which would direct a study of the question of nationalization of mines was in prospect today when the senate resumed consideration of the measure. Discussion of the provision necessitated deferment of final action yesterday when the bill was taken up after passage of the house measure designed to check profiteering and control the distribution of coal. The latter bill, the first of the emergency coal measures to pass the senate, was put through by a vote of 40 to 7 and sent to conference for adjustment of differences with the house.

An attempt by Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, to substitute the provision of the senate measure for the government control of the industry also was defeated. No record vote was had on that amendment.

MUCH CONCERN IS FELT OVER ILLNESS OF MRS. HARDING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Serious complications developed in the illness of Mrs. Harding, wife of President Harding, last night but they were "slightly abated this morning and the patient is resting more easily," Brigadier General Sawyer the physician in attendance said today in a statement issued at the White House.

Mrs. Harding's condition still is regarded with much concern, the statement said, adding that Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, of Marion, Ohio, who was associated with his father in attending Mrs. Harding during a previous illness of similar nature, had arrived here for a consultation.

LITTLE HOPE FOR RESCUE OF THE 46 ENTOMBED MINERS

JACKSON, CAL., Sept. 8.—Diminished hope accompanied today the renewal of feverish efforts to rescue the 47 miners entombed deep in the Argonaut gold mine here 11 days ago. The feeling that few if any of the men would be found alive apparently was growing.

In the first official statement issued since the disaster E. A. Stent, vice president of the Argonaut Mining company, last night expressed the belief that all of the men had perished.

"I sadly fear that all we can do is to bring out the 47 bodies," he told the Associated Press.

The crop was reported to have deteriorated considerably in the central and eastern states since mid-August and to have had a severe setback in Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska from excessive heat and lack of moisture. INDICTMENTS FOR THE MINE TRAGEDY INCREASED TO 37

ARRESTS ARE BEING MADE AS FAST AS THE MEN ARE LOCATED.

FIVE PLACED IN JAIL DURING DAY THURSDAY

Resume Hunt and Special Deputies Are Scouring Country Near Scene.

MARION, ILL., Sept. 8—The jury this morning voted to recess until Monday, September 18 after adjournment this afternoon to allow time for serving of papers for arrests of those indicted. More indictments are expected late this afternoon.

MARION, ILL., Sept. 8—In checking lists this morning it is found that 37 instead of 38 individuals have been indicted by the grand jury investigating the Herrin mine massacre. Through a clerical error, Charles Rogers was called Clarence Rogers in the Howard Hoffman indictment. Charles Rogers, who is now in jail, is charged with the killing of both Hoffman and John Shoemaker. No one by the name of Clarence Rogers has been indicted thus far.

Percy Hall of Herrin was the sixth man lodged in the Williamson county jail at Marion for the Herrin massacre. Hall was arrested and brought to Marion by George Galligan, republican nominee for sheriff and a half-brother of the accused. He is a coal miner with a wife and two children.

Special deputy sheriffs immediately after the return of the indictments on Thursday afternoon, started scouring the country and before 9 o'clock had five of the accused men under lock and key and the deputies took up the hunt again this morning.

Frank Montanetta of Marion, an Italian, was the first one to surrender. He is single, about 35 years old. He is accused of complicity in the killing of John Shoemaker, civil engineer and brother in law of William L. Jester, mine owner.

Leva Mann of Herrin, is a shift man at Dale mine. He is married and has four children and is about 29 years old.

Charles Rogers, who was arrested at the same time as Mann, is about 55 years old and is married with four children.

James Brown, colored deputy sheriff at Colp, is a married man of 40 years who is separated from his wife and living with a married daughter in Colp.

The sixth accused man is Otis Clark, the first to be indicted and who has been in jail for a week.

GENERAL BARTON TO RETURN TO DENISON

AUSTIN, Sept. 8—Adjutant General Thomas D. Barton will return to Denison tonight to confer with Colonel Charles Nimon, commanding state troops there, and to review the strike situation. Barton and Captain T. L. Winn legal adviser to Nimon at Denison conferred with Governor Neff today regarding conditions at Denison particularly the matter of suspending civil law there, it is understood.

TAX VALUATIONS IN BURKBURNETT ARE RAISED BY BOARD

BURKBURNETT, TEXAS, Sept. 8—At a recent meeting of the city council W. D. Utts, Joe H. Davis and T. J. Mansfield were appointed to serve as a board of equalization. They met and after canvassing the tax assessor's records raised the valuations, as shown from 25 to 100 per cent more than the amount rendered by the property owners affecting probably 200 persons, the lakes being both personal and real.

Cards have been mailed out by the city secretary notifying those persons to appear before the board on September 13 and state their reason if any why the valuations should not stand as raised.

DIRECTOR OF SHOPCRAFT STRIKE AND TWO OTHER LABOR LEADERS SERVED WITH INJUNCTION NOTICE

CHICAGO, Sept. 8—B. M. Jewell, head of the federated shop crafts, William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, and Martin F. Ryan, president of the International Brotherhood of Carmen of America arrived in Chicago this morning from the east and were served with the notice of the temporary injunction granted the government last Friday.

DANIEL WILLARD CONFERS WITH WESTERN EXECUTIVES

CHICAGO, Sept. 8—Daniel Willard president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, met a few western rail executives in conference in the Chicago club this afternoon presumably to discuss proposals for a basis of settlement of the shopmen's strike on certain roads by individual agreement. No announcement that a conference had been arranged or what was expected to be accomplished and all parties maintained silence.

So far as learned only a few of the western roads had planned to send representatives. H. E. Byram, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, was known to be at the meeting. Both he and Mr. Willard earlier had refused to discuss the conference and its subject matters, although Mr Byram had said his company would dicuss separate agreements if a satisfactory basis could be found.

The conference of rail executives broke up shortly before 3 o'clock with no announcement of what had been discussed or whether anything had been accomplished.

Mr. Willard was seen leaving the conference and would not answer questions except to say "I have nothing to say." Other executives were equally evasive.

E. H. Byram, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, left the meeting at the same time Mr. Willard left the Chicago club. He would say nothing. Others seen at the Chicago club or said by others to have been in attendance were W. H. Finley, president of the Chicago & Northwestern; W. G. Byrd, president of the Chicago & Alton, and Hale Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy.

ADMINISTRATION OFFICIALS SEE PROBABLE SETTLEMENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Administration officials who have kept close touch with the industrial situation declared today that settlement of the shopmen's strike on a number of railroads was "probable" as a result of conferences in Chicago.

According to these sources several railroad executives were represented in an informal conference at Chicago today which they said was called largely through the efforts of Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

TWO BANDITS ARE CAPTURED AND ONE KILLED AT TOLEDO

CHICAGO, Sept. 8—Photographs of two men captured by the Toledo police after a revolver fight in which a third man was killed were identified today, according to police by Sergeant Stanley Beatty of Kansas City, Kan., as the bandits who are wanted for the killing of Night Marshal Leroy Damron of Posner Springs, Kan. and Policemen Elmer Diggs and Fred Wheeler.

Earl James was killed in the fight with the Toledo police and James Roberts also known as James Barrow of Kansas City, Mo., and William Mandel, alias William Stroh were captured. The trio had been sought here and when the photographs of the men were sent here by Toledo police, Sergeant Beatty immediately identified them, local police said.

Five bandits fought with Night Marshal Damron and the two policemen at the Kansas town on August 24. Two were captured and the other three started in an automobile toward Chicago. Sergeant Beatty came to Chicago and was here when word came that one of the men had been killed and the others captured in Toledo.

BALFOUR DEFENDS LEAGUE COUNCIL AGAINST ATTACKS

ANSWERS CHARGE NOTHING HAS BEEN DONE TO RESTORE PEACE IN EAST.

SAYS LEAGUE HAS NEITHER SHIPS, MEN NOR MONEY

Cannot Deal With Non-Member of League Like Kemalist Government.

By Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 8—A defense of the league of nations council against criticisms which have been directed at it was made by the Earl of Balfour at the opening of today's discussion in the assembly of the work accomplished by the league.

Answering Lord Robert Cecil's reproach that the council had done nothing to restore peace in the near east, Lord Balfour said:

"The league has neither ships, men, nor money, so how could it deal with a non-member of the league like the Kemalist government? The makers of the league did not provide the league with such forces.

"There is a certain class of critics of the league, including Lord Robert Cecil, who regard the league as a substitute for the governments, replacing the foreign offices and the war offices and occupying itself with all sorts of political questions, besides every branch of welfare work.

"Those critics are preferable to those who call our efforts fancies or idle dreams, but those who expect such universal activities from the league should remember that it was not given the means to substitute itself for the governments. It was not intended to do so."

Delegate Bellegarde of Haiti, asked whether the time had come for the league to show more audacity as recommended by Lord Robert Cecil or whether it should continue to act with prudence as advised by President Edwards. There was perhaps an advantageous middle ground, he said.

"Why cannot the league be audaciously prudent, or if you prefer should it not be prudently audacious?" he asked.

The Haitian delegates' address made the greatest impression of any speech delivered so far in this assembly. He predicted that the United States would eventually come into the league.

SENATE ORDERS AN INVESTIGATION OF COTTON MARKETING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7—A broad investigation by the senate agriculture committee into the methods and practices employed in the marketing of cotton was ordered by the senate today in the adoption of the resolution by Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, which seeks to determine whether there is interference with the law of supply and demand in the cotton market.

It is claimed in preambles to the resolution that the combination of the carry-over and the estimated production for this year will not be sufficient to meet the world demand and that quotations fall utterly to respond to these conditions. It is further stated that cotton consumption both here and abroad has increased but there has been no corresponding increases in revenue to the producer a condition which it is alleged, threatens to damage the industry seriously.

SUMMARY STRIKE SITUATION

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 — Persistent rumors of an impending peace or partial settlement of the railroad strike continued here today without any tangible foundation in the way of definite statements by rail heads or union officials to substantiate the reports.

In fact, most of the railroad executives who commented upon the rumors denied knowledge of new proposals to end the strike and union leaders declined to lift the cloak of secrecy which appeared to surround the reported peace move.

Expressions of hope for separate agreements with individual roads were the most positive statements any union leaders had made as the time approached for Monday's meeting of the shop crafts policy committee. Arrangements for this meeting called for preliminary conferences here between Bert M. Jewell head of the striking shopmen and his executive council.

The whereabouts of Mr. Jewell who dropped out of public view a week ago when Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson granted the Daugherty injunction remained unknown last night but with the executive council meeting set for today he was expected to put in an appearance during the day.

Daniel Willard president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and leader of the group of rail executives who gave favorable consideration to the plan for separate agreements, was still in Chicago today.

He arrived in the midst of the floating peace rumors, but the subject of his conferences with other railway executives was not disclosed. Officials of the New York Central lines and the Chicago and Northwestern, with whom Mr Willard was reported to have conferred, denied that any settlement proposals had been even tentatively accepted.

Supporting the denials of railway presidents that there had been any new peace negotiations was a statement by J. P. Noonan, chief of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who said at Washington that there was no settlement discussion proceeding with any of the railroads at this time, "although there might be some in the future." The purpose of the shop crafts policy committee meeting was to consider the general strike policy and the Daugherty injunction he said.

Strike conditions throughout the country remained generally quiet.

Mr Jewell and all officials of the six shop crafts on strike were reported to have voluntarily cut their own union salaries in half until termination of the strike. The salary reductions were made it was said at the suggestion of Mr Jewell.

SEARCH FOR "MARK" IN HOCHBRUN CASE

Believed to Be Accomplice in Plot to Obtain the Estate of Victim.

SEATTLE, WASH., Sept. 8.—A new search for a man known as "Mark" was ordered today in the case of Clara Skarin Winborn, who, officers say, has confessed to shooting the wealthy and aged Ferdinand Hochbrun to death here last October. The search resulted from a telegram apparently sent by the woman two days after Hochbrun was shot. It was addressed to Raymond E. Herron, a telegraph operator in Kalamazoo, Mich.

"Mark," explained Prosecuting Attorney Douglas, "is undoubtedly a contraction of Markham. Markham we believe, was an accomplice of Clara Skarin in a plot to obtain the estate of Hochbrun, by murder if necessary."

The sender's name was recorded as "Betty Winborn," and the address given was that at which Miss Skarin had been living with her cousin, Mrs. Anna Clark.

Chief of Police James L. Drew of Oakland, Cal., where Miss Skarin is held, said she believed Miss Skarin was shielding a man. He is trying to learn her motive for remaining in Oakland and San Francisco many months when the police were seeking her there. Herron, said District Attorney Douglas, is a widower with a couple of children. Mr. Douglas visited Mrs. Clark and said that he learned from her that Miss Skarin was practically penniless when he went September 32 to live in the Clark home.

"Later" he continued, "Clara had plenty of money. She bought clothes for herself and gave Mrs. Clark $20 in gold to cash a check. She lived there until she left Seattle November 28. She told Mrs. Clark that she got the money from the safe deposit box of Robert Winborn."

Robert Winborn was a barber to whom Clara went in Michigan before he died.

VICE-PRESIDENT WOLL NOT IN SYMPATHY WITH IMPEACHMENT PROGRAM

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 8.—Inauguration of impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Daugherty as proposed by the New York central trades and labor council will be brought before the executive council of the American Federation of Labor when it convenes at the Ambassador hotel here tomorrow, it was announced today by Matthew Woll, vice president of the federation and a member of the executive council.

Despite the telegram represented to have been sent to the New York council yesterday by Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, promising his support in impeachment proceedings, Mr. Woll today expressed the opinion that such action would be impractical.

Several members of the executive council as well as the presidents of international unions here to attend preliminary conferences of the labor chiefs declined to subscribe to the attitude of Mr. Woll. They declared their readiness to take any action suggested by Mr. Gompers and their willingness to abide by his decisions as to the vulnerability of Mr. Daugherty.

BODY OF FLYING PARSON FORWARDED TO HIS HOME FOUR KILLED THURSDAY

RUTHLAND, VT., Sept. 8.—The body of Lieut. Belvin M. Maynard, "flying parson," who was killed with two companions, Lieut. L. R. Wood of Ticonderoga, N. Y., and Mechanician Charles Mionette of Plattsburg, N. Y., when their plane fell 3,000 feet here yesterday, was homeward bound for Maynard, N. C., today. Preparations had been made for forwarding the bodies of Wood and Mionette to their homes.

An examination of the wrecked machine threw little light on the cause of the accident. The three aviators had been engaged in flights at the week from the fair grounds here.

Before leaving the ground early in the afternoon, Lieutenant Maynard as usual was careful to see that his plane was in good working order. He had put it through several stunts when it went into a nose dive and crashed to the ground. The fair grounds crowd was given another shock when, four hours after the accident, Henry A. Smith of Boston was killed in a parachute drop from a balloon.

One of the features, the announcement said, would be a secret report said to have been made by a Tennessee klansman to a superior officer on conditions in the Atlanta headquarters of the klan.

GULF OIL CORPORATION STOCK GAINS 30 POINTS IN N. Y. CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Responding to reports of capital readjustment October 1, by which 12 shares of $25 par value would be exchanged for one share of the present $100 par value stock of the Gulf Oil corporation advanced 30 points in today's curb market. The new price was $550 a share.

The Gulf company, which is owned by the Mellon interests of Pittsburgh, is one of the largest independent producers. Reports of its proposed merger with the Standard Oil company of Indiana were recently officially denied.

SAYS PROPOSAL THAT NO COTTON BE PLANTED IS IMPOSSIBLE MOVE

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., Sept. 8.—George C. E. Becker, chief of the state plant board, yesterday declared the proposal of Senator Smith of Carolina, that no cotton be planted for a year to eradicate the boll weevil, was impossible.

"If it were possible to eradicate the weevil," Mr Becker said, "that opportunity was lost to the south about 30 years ago. At that time entomologists urged upon Texas the necessity of undertaking prompt measures, but the public could not be aroused to the destructiveness of the pest.

THIRTEEN TONS OF NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES

DALLAS, Sept. 8.—The Dallas Telephone company printed last month thirteen tons of new telephone directories. In 1890 there were 600 telephones in Dallas as compared with more than 42,000 today. The issue of the directory distributed last month would, if placed end to end, reach nine miles and if six stacks were made of the book, each stack would reach the top of the Magnolia building, here, 400 high.

Voliva Trying to Oust Methodists Arrest Preacher

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—The recent arrest of Rev R. E. O'Brien of the Methodist Episcopal church of Zion, Ill., is part of an effort of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion, to drive the Methodist church out of that city Dr E R Robb Searing, editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate charges in the current issue of that publication.

The minister was charged with having hired a painter to throw paint over one of Overseer Voliva's signs, which was "entirely false and his arrest was wholly unjustifiable," says the Advocate. The Rev O'Brien was rudely handled when arrested and thrust into a vermin infested cell, according to the charges.

"Mr. Voliva is determined to drive out the Methodists," says the Advocate, adding that the policemen who arrested Mr. O'Brien told him:

"We've waited two years and we have you now."

"If we understand the genius of Methodism, she never retreats without real cause," continues the Advocate.

"It is simply a case of fanatical ignorance versus religious liberty. Twice Mr. O'Brien's home has been broken into, his very life threatened, a bomb was discovered under the home of one of the active non-Volivites, while Mr. Voliva has openly boasted that he would get the Methodist property for ten cents on the dollar."

DEMOCRATS PLEDGE PARTY TO REDUCTION OF ALABAMA TAXES

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Sept. 8.—Democrats of Alabama pledged themselves in party convention which adjourned early today to reduce taxes and to cut all expenses of running the government. Other planks in the platform included:

Maintenance and strict enforcement of present prohibition laws.

No reduction of confederate pensions.

Aid for farmers in agricultural research, cooperative marketing, soil improvement, proper and ample credit and maintenance of "necessary machinery" for proper inspection of food, seeds, drugs and fertilizers.

Development of the port of Mobile.

The convention voiced its sympathy for and sent its "affectionate greeting to our stricken leader, Woodrow Wilson, a real soldier in the late war who was wounded almost to death."

The administration of Governor Kilby was endorsed.

Walker's League Formed to Protect People of Street

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—The Walker's league has been formed here.

"Organization for the mutual protection of those who walk about the streets in the discharge of their daily business has become a plain necessity," said George A. Moore, secretary.

A mass meeting of walkers is planned for Sunday and hopes are that the organization will become national in scope.

ECONOMIC PROGRESS CONTINUES TOWARD NORMAL CONDITIONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Despite industrial difficulties the country's economic progress is continuing steadily toward normal conditions, the commerce department declared today in a survey of the general situation.

"No clearer demonstration could be asked," the department said, "to indicate the soundness of the fundamental conditions underlying the present business revival than the persistence with which commerce and industry have progressed in the face of recent serious troubles. The extremely serious labor difficulties would under many conditions have completely demoralized business; instead real progress continues to be made.

"There is reason to suppose that the economic losses occasioned by the coal and railroad strikes will make themselves felt for some months to come. Disturbances of this character affecting basic industries cannot take place without having to be paid for in the long run."

INCOME OF CHURCH NET EXCEEDS THE EXPENSES

PORTLAND, ORE., Sept. 8.—Lewis B. Franklin, vice-president and treasurer of the council of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States, reported today at a joint meeting of the house of bishops and house of deputies at the triennial convention here that for the first time in several years the income of the general church in 1920 and 1921 had exceeded expenses, the total assets being $352,954.91 which was applied toward reduction of the accumulated deficit of past years.

Mr. Franklin then presented to the convention the proposed general church program for the next three years as adopted by the national council. This provides for the maintenance of the existing work of the general church in missions, religious education and social service throughout the world and for advance work.

Burglars Repent And Return Booze Sorry for Victim

NYACK, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Last month Morris Kohn, who has a large estate at Nanuet, near here, had his cellar raided by burglars and about all his liquor removed.

Today he is going around with a dazed look upon his face because sometime between midnight and this morning they returned and left stacked on his big porch practically all of the wet goods they had taken in August.

Attached to one package was a crude note which said the gang had experienced a change of heart after seeing a man in a movie nearly die of thirst and decided that to rob a man's cellar was something no self-respecting burglar would do.

Kentucky Lady Tells How She Became Strong and Healthy. — Recommends Cardui to Weak Women

Mount Vernon, Ky.—Mrs. Cynthia Vanhook, formerly of Stanford, but now residing here, says that after her third child was born, she undertook to resume her housework too soon, "and this caused me a great deal of trouble."

"I began to feel weak and all played out—not myself at all," as Mrs. Vanhook describes her condition. "For about six weeks I was just a nervous wreck. I had to have some one do all my housework.

"My doctor told me my imprudence had caused shock to the nervous system, and the thing to do was to use a tonic to build up my strength.

"He recommended Cardui . . . Very soon I saw an improvement in my condition. I used three bottles of Cardui and . . . my health was restored.

"I am a strong, healthy woman."

This Kentucky lady adds that she "never fails to recommend Cardui to weak and run-down lady friends."

Thousands of women praise Cardui to their friends.

This mild, harmless, vegetable tonic medicine has been in successful use for over forty years, in the treatment of many common ailments suffered by women.

TWO MORE JUDGES OF SUPREME COURT MAY SOON RETIRE

HARDING WOULD THUS HAVE HAD APPOINTMENT OF FIVE MEMBERS.

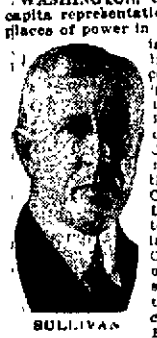
MEN EIGHTY-ONE AND SEVENTY-NINE YEARS OLD

Sutherland Fitted Both By Training and Common Sense For His New Post.

By MARK SULLIVAN

National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Wichita Daily Times
(Copyright, 1922, by the New York Evening Post.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The per capita representation of Ohio in the places of power in the United States is being materially reduced. The contemplated resignation from the supreme court of Justice Day, late of Ravenna and Canton, Ohio, closely following that of Justice Clarke, late of Lisbon, Youngstown, and Cleveland, Ohio, leaves Ohio with only one man on the supreme bench, in the person of the chief justice, Wm. H. Taft.



SULLIVAN

But this is rather a trivial aspect of these resignations. Only a little more elevated in importance is the fact that President Harding, before his term ends, is likely to have had the appointing of an unprecedented number of justices of the supreme court. Inasmuch as there are two remaining justices who are 81 and 79 years, respectively, and may at any time prefer the ease of retirement, Mr. Harding is quite likely to have had the appointment of five of the total of nine members. Some accident of circumstance might increase the number to more than that, and it would give President Harding an extraordinary degree of power over the fundamental trend of his time.

All this, however, is mere coincidence. There is no disputed line of policy involved in Mr. Harding's appointments. There is no disputed line of policy before the public. His appointments have no relation to each other, and there is no necessary identity of views among his appointees. About all that can be pointed out is that Justice Clarke, who retires is a league of nations man, while the successor whom Mr. Harding has chosen, ex-Senator George Sutherland, is an anti-league of nations man. On the other hand, Harding's choice for the first vacancy he had to fill, William H Taft is rather conspicuously a pro-league of nations man.

Sutherland Well Qualified.

However, the league of nations is one of the last questions likely to reach the supreme court of the United States But what is important and what is cheering in a world in which a rather extraordinary number of things seem to be going wrong is the satisfaction attending the selection of ex-Senator Sutherland If sheer intelligence, the possession of a good muscle inside an ample skull can help the world on its difficult way, Sutherland's presence on the supreme court bench is an occasion for gratification.

It never occurs to any one to classify Mr Sutherland as conservative or liberal. Sometimes, when you enter his office, you encounter that ancient mariner of the labor unions, Andrew Furuseth. Furuseth and the seaman's union are among Sutherland's clients. Some other times you encounter big bankers and heads of corporations, who are also his clients.

Senator LaFollette is of course entitled to the credit which fastens his name to the LaFollette seaman's bill. But LaFollette would never have been able to get that bill through the senate if he had not succeeded in persuading Sutherland, who then represented Utah in the senate, that the bill contained justice, and not only justice but practicability. When Sutherland indorsed the bill he won for it a degree and kind of support from other senators who respected his mind and judgment such as LaFollette never could have won.

Sutherland has the kind of mind which, in the defined and delicate perfection of its processes is sometimes called "Silky," but Sutherland has also what is the supreme equipment of a judge, namely, the instinct for common sense Sutherland has this because he had to have it in the place where he got his early training. The ex-senator's father was an English mining engineer who lived in the mining camps of Utah. Where Sutherland first practiced law a lawyer could not "get by" merely through reading the law from a calf bound text book.

The juries and the rough judges of those communities could only be impressed by showing them that the legal axiom was what all good law ought to be, namely, the epitome of their own rough but accurate sense of what is right.

Two other great lawyers who are graduates of this same mountain camp school are Senator Borah, of Idaho and Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.

BURKBURNETT IS ORDERED TO PAY CHIEF ROSE $600

A writ of mandamus was issued from the 78th district court Thursday evening, following the hearing on the case, ordering the city of Burkburnett to pay City Marshal and Chief Police Rose $600 and also to pay him his monthly salary from this time on during the tenure of his office.

City Marshal Rose was elected to that office last spring by a vote of the people, but shortly after his election the city council appointed another person chief of police which placed Mr Rose on a fee basis solely.

He brought suit against the city of Burkburnett in the form of quo warranto proceedings alleging that Frank Watkins had usurped his office of chief of police This case was tried before Judge P. A. Martin, who decreed that since Mr Rose was elected to city marshal he was also entitled to the salary as ex-officio chief of police.

Judge E W Napier of the 78th district court Friday morning refused a man a decree of divorce on the latter's plea that his wife had deserted hi mover three years ago

The court intimated in refusing the decree that his action was based deserted him over three years ago the plaintiff was informed that his wife was in a serious condition in a hospital in Ohio, but that he never wrote to ascertain her condition after that

Health the Secret of Attraction

Women of today depend a good deal upon the modern modiste and a knowledge of the cosmetic art to make them attractive. Too often there exists beneath it all a suffering woman whose nervous laugh or forced smile covers a pang of agony caused by some feminine ill. To such a woman Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will bring health and a happy relief from her suffering, that will make her far more attractive than costly gowns and cosmetics.

For nearly fifty years American women have relied upon this root and herb medicine to relieve their ailments.—adv.

REPORT MRS. HARDING IS MUCH IMPROVED AND CONDITION NOT SERIOUS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. — Announcement that Mrs. Harding, wife of the president had been indisposed for several days brought a flood of messages today from all parts of the country expressing sympathy and hopes for her continued improvement. Mrs. Harding's ailment was described as in the nature of a slight organic trouble due to the effects of a cold complicated by a recurrence of hydronephrosi and white house officials insisted that the patient's condition was neither alarming nor serious.

Mrs Harding was said to have rested well last night and to have shown decided improvement over her condition of yesterday. The present attack, according to intimate friends, is the first Mrs. Harding has suffered since the inauguration of her husband. A similar condition developed during his term as senator but responded quickly to treatment

WHEN SUPPER TIME ROLLED ROUND A HORSEMAN CAME UP ON THE HILLSIDE AND TOOK JACK'S PLACE. JACK WAS GLAD TO RUN DOWN TO CAMP AND SEE THE MEN HAD ALREADY GIVEN FLIP A BONE

THE DOG WAS MUNCHING AWAY AT IT WHEN HIS LITTLE MASTER ARRIVED. JACK WAS VERY INTERESTED IN WATCHING THE MEN COOK THE EVENING MEAL. THEN ALL SAT DOWN TO ENJOY THE FOOD

WHEN SUPPER WAS FINISHED THE MEN SAT AROUND TELLING OF THEIR EXPERIENCES. A BIG CAMP FIRE WAS MADE AND JACK HUSTLED ABOUT, PICKING UP STICKS TO KEEP IT BURNING.

JUST AS THE LAST EMBERS WERE DYING OUT, THE LOOKOUT WHO HAD TAKEN JACK'S PLACE, RUSHED IN "THERE IS A BIG TROOP OF HORSEMEN COMING TOWARDS OUR CAMP," SAID HE. CONTINUED IN NEXT CHAPTER.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
"RUBADUB'S CHARM"
By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"It's our beloved Mr. Tingaling!"

After walking until he could scarcely stand up, Mr. Tingaling, the fairyman stopped beside Farmer Smith's sass-patch garden.

He was looking for the Twins whom Flap-Doodle, a mischievous fairy, had turned into two white rabbits

"Whoo-ee it's hot" he exclaimed. "I've just looked everywhere. I'll soon begin to think those Twins aren't on this earth Old Sprinkle-Elow will have to ride his magic umbrella and look up among the stars next I guess"

Suddenly he stopped talking and fanning. For out from under the fence stole two little white rabbits, making straight for the lettuce bed

"I'll bet those are the two rabbits all the creatures have been telling me about," he whispered to himself. "If I can just get near enough without scaring them, perhaps they can tell me whether or not they have seen the Twins"

So Tingaling squeezed his fat body between the fence palings and went tiptoeing over to the lettuce bed as softly as you walk in your stocking feet when the baby is asleep.

But what was his surprise when, instead of running away at the sight of so queer a creture as himself, the rabbits gave two joyful hops right toward him, almost knocking him over

"Oh, oh, oh! It's our beloved Mr. Tingaling!" said one rabbit

"My, but we're glad to see you!" said the other rabbit

Mr Tingaling was completely flabbergasted

"I—you—excuse me, but I don't believe I have ever met you before have I?" he remarked in a puzzled voice

"Of course you have," cried both white rabbits together "We're Nancy and Nick. Flap-Doodle bewitched us and then flew away."

"Stars and moons!" exclaimed the fat fairyman

LEE CLARK URGED FOR PRESIDENCY OF STATE TEACHERS

INSTITUTE CLOSES FRIDAY AFTER REPORT OF RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE.

WOULD BAR CIGARETTE USERS FROM ATHLETICS

Wilson Mentioned in Resolutions—Supt. Moore of Fort Worth is Morning Speaker.

The election of Supt Lee Clark to the presidency of the State Teachers' association was urged in a resolution adopted Friday morning at the concluding session of the joint Teachers' institute, which ended its work at noon

The resolution expresses the institute's belief "that we have in Mr. Clark a man who is well fitted for the office, he is in hearty sympathy with every movement looking to the betterment of our schools; he is progressive in both thought and action. If elected to this important office, we know he would reflect great credit upon the association."

Another resolution adopted Friday sought to bar cigarette smokers from participation in interscholastic league contests Another resolution was as follows:

"That we believe it is fitting to express our appreciation of that great educator, splendid statesman and former president of these United States, the honorable Woodrow Wilson In his declining health we would have him know that he has our sympathy and our confidence in the great work which he has rendered this, the greatest of all nations."

M. H Moore superintendent of Fort Worth schools and former president of the State Teachers' association, spoke at the concluding session. Mr. Moore, who has just returned from the state democratic convention at San Antonio, discussed the educational planks on the platform, and spoke of educational conditions in Texas generally.

M. N. Marrs incoming superintendent, endorsed Supt. Lee Clark for the presidency of the State Teachers' Association voiced "sympathy and confidence for that great educator, Woodrow Wilson;" urged all teachers to join the state association, and thanked the local papers for their reports of the institute meetings.

Mr. Young tells of being a 73-mile stretch of road west of Ozona on which one does not see a single house for the entire distance. In spite of the sparseness of population, he said, the road was an excellent graveled highway

ELABORATE SIGNS TO MARK GATEWAYS TO COUNTY PAVING

Signs extending across the paved highways at the Wilbarger, Red river, Clay and Archer entrances to Wichita county, bidding autoists welcome to Wichita county's system of improved roads, will be erected shortly, it was announced at the weekly luncheon of the business council Friday. The work is in charge of County Engineer J. M. Isbell, and the expense is being borne by several organizations, including the chamber of commerce.

J. C. Hunt and A. H. Britain, who recently returned by auto from Colorado, each told the business council of the joyful feeling that gripped them when, after many miles of poor roads, they saw the Wichita county pavement stretching out before them. J. W. Bradley said the merchants' association would be asked to help in installing the signs.

The council heard reports on the automobile trips to the several fairs in southwest Oklahoma and northwest Texas, the chairman telling of substantial progress toward getting up good delegations. The first trip will be made next Wednesday and Thursday to Mangum and Frederick, Okla.

STOCKHOLDERS IN VICTOR REFINERY ARE HELD LIABLE

JUDGE HOLD THEM RESPONSIBLE FOR ABOUT $100,000 IN DEBTS.

MEANS $5 PER SHARE IF ALL ARE SOLVENT

Notice of Appeal Given; More Than 600 Stockholders in Company Affected.

Stockholders of the Victor Refining company will be assessed about $5 a share to pay the debts of the company, according to a decision rendered Friday by Judge P A Martin in the 89th district court, in the suit of the City National Bank of Commerce vs. Victor Refining Co. et al.

The suit has attracted widespread attention because of the large number of stockholders scattered throughout northwest Texas, and because of the effect it has upon the liability of joint stock associations.

The stockholders' liability totals about $100,000, or $5 on each $10 share of stock However, as a number of the stockholders are said to be unable to pay their proportionate share of the debts, the burden will probably be heavier upon those who are solvent The company's total indebtedness is about $120,000, but there are assets that are expected to reduce the stockholders' liability to $100,000, perhaps to a smaller figure

Among local people who hold stock are Mrs. Lillie Morgan, Carl Williamson, O. L. Clark of Burkburnett, A Lohoefner of Burkburnett, C. W Reid, T O Shappell, W. G Shappell, T P. Roberts, W A Frerar and C. J Barnard

The defendants have given notice of appeal

The stockholders contended that they were not liable inasmuch as the stock was sold and bought by them with the understanding that they were not liable above the amount invested in the company It was also their contention that all the literature of the company advised everyone of this part of the contract. In the answer of the defendants it was also set up that these debts sued for were contracted for with the plaintiffs with that same understanding

Judge Martin did not permit the defendants to prove that the plaintiffs knew that the stock was sold with the understanding that the purchasers were not further liable.

Mrs. Carl Lewis, who underwent an operation at Call Field hospital Friday morning, was reported in a critical condition Friday afternoon Mr Lewis is foreman of The Times press room.

IDENTITY, MAIN ISSUE IN QUEER CASE IN COURT

The question of identity is the main issue involved in the case of the state of Texas against Morris Bookbinder on trial in the county court at law. The defendant is charged with the offense of aggravated assault.

Testimony showed that during August, some man entered the room occupied by the wife of one of the city officers of Burkburnett. It was about 4 00 o'clock in the morning. She was awakened when the man placed his hand over her mouth.

According to the woman's testimony she succeeded in freeing herself from the man's grasp and when she ran for her revolver the man jumped out of the window through which he had gained admission.

The following morning, according to the testimony, her husband arrested the defendant and brought him to the house where his shoes were measured in the tracks left by the man the night before The husband and another officer testified that the shoes fitted the tracks perfectly

The defendant stated that the shoes and the tracks did not correspond and further related that he had been sick and had retired that night at midnight A large number of character witnesses were present, who testified that the man had the reputation of being a peaceable law-abiding citizen

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Be not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed, by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God.—Romans 12:2.

Act up always to your convictions, and when you have been unfaithful, bear with yourself, and resume always with calm simplicity your little task.—Madame Guyon.

Texas-Oklahoma Fair, September 30 to October 4, Wichita Falls

YOUR VALUABLES.

Are you thinking of buying the Russian crown jewels, including the famous Orloff diamond? They are offered for sale by the bolsheviks.

The price? A trifling $500,000,000.

The whole caboodle of them, pried out of their golden crowns and scepters, could be carried in your suitcase.

As far as being useful, the Russian crown jewels are about as valuable as a peck of broken glass.

Their value is entirely imaginary—no more, no less than the imagination of man makes it.

Queer thing is value. Ford Motor Company's latest statement shows that its assets exceed $400,000,000.

Of this, $81,026,683 is invested in real estate, the only imperishable form of material wealth.

Patents are listed at a value of only $110,740.

The company's good will is entered as worth nearly $81,000,000. This good-will is intangible. No eye can see it. No scales can weigh it.

Equally intangible is the Ford Motor Company's greatest value—the brain of Henry Ford. Or, to be absolutely accurate, his intellect.

Accumulation of values seems to be a national mania. There are fixed values such as gold, whose price is set by law. There are sentimental values—heirlooms, remembrances, etc.

Value is the most elusive thing on earth. It is the magician of economics.

You think you have obtained a small value. Suddenly it swells to enormous size. This is increasing value. Henry Ford fell into its embrace and from a poor bicycle repairman became one of the three richest Americans.

In the far corner are declining values—ones that are deceptive, look substantial and permanent at first, then shrink. Ask Wall Street plungers who have been caught in bear markets.

Value skips about like a flea. Big fortune comes to the man who can guess where it will jump next. Typical of this is real estate.

Values are the poker chips of uncertainty.

And, of all values, the only ones that have permanence approaching the perpetual are knowledge, fame and good deeds. These are the real wealth. No man is really poor who has created any of the three.

AID AND COMFORT TO THE ENEMY.

It must have been a gleeful time, in republican camps, when the news came from San Antonio that the state democratic convention had failed to put itself on record against the Ku Klux Klan. The convention's action, or lack of it, was an act of aid and comfort to the enemy of which, we may be sure, the enemy will take full advantage.

The democratic party of Texas had already laid itself liable to the charge of being Klan dominated, by making a Klan indorsed candidate its nominee for senator; the effect of that nomination, in states where the conditions were not known, was to line up against the democratic party all those elements opposed to the Klan. Had the convention adopted an anti-Klan plank, it would have lifted that burden from the shoulders of the national organization, and would have robbed the enemy of the right to point to Texas, foremost democratic state, as being Klan-controlled.

It was a most unhappy set of circumstances that put the democratic party of Texas in such a position, and the party's action makes the situation unhappier still.

There was a chance for some real statesmanship at San Antonio, but there was not even a fractional element of statesmanship apparent in the outcome. That gathering was lacking both in statesmanship and in political astuteness, and the national party must foot the bill for its shortcomings.

HIS LAST STAND.

The spirit of Drouth is making his last stand.

At the very spot where men with their machines are seeking to provide for his everlasting retirement, his scorching breath has scared from the river's sands the last precious particle of moisture, has put a halt to the work that is designed to forever nullify his evil plans.

It is as if he were challenging man's powers—man's ingenuity, as if he were answering man's threat to make him harmless.

"I'll give 'em one last go-round," he might be saying, "it's my last chance."

It is an anomalous situation, yet a significant one, that exists at the site of the big dam. There men are robbing drouth of his stinger by creating Texas' greatest lake; and there isn't enough water on hand just now to fill a radiator. The plains and fields that are to be the site of a great body of water are parched and cracked under a relentless sun.

The significance of it lies in the fact that the need for storing water is brought home with multiplied emphasis. Drouth and prosperity are poor team-workers, and the former must go to make way for the latter.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LOOK FAR.

If you have no vision, you have nothing by which you are able to rise from the place where you are.

In dreams do many people live and die, but through dreams there are those who have reshaped the world.

Look far! Beyond the things of trivial moment.

The traveler sets out on his journey. He has a map by which he is to be guided. If he gets off his track, he will consult his map again. But all the time he has within his mind a picture of the place to which he is going. He looks far.

A man may carry a vision in his mind, but it must have its source of inspiration in his heart, else its materiality will soon or later crush out the thing for which he most strives and his life will end in disappointment, no matter how much he is worth in money.

The great Cecil Rhodes looked so far that he became known as "The Empire Builder." And it was because of the vision of James J. Hill that he also was known as an Empire Builder. Rhodes saw a vast territory united into one for the common good of all, in South Africa. Hill saw long lines of railroads reaching their arms into untrod lands, waiting for the immigrants.

Your character becomes just about what you are dreaming and planning that it shall become.

And your success is going to be tempered by what you see each day as a possibility of the workings of your mind.

Look far!

Don't be afraid to look too far. It is much grander to aim too high and never reach your goal than to aim low and reach it easily.

Keep just ahead of where people expect to find you.

See things completed. Then you will be able to go through all the hardships, the sufferings, the disappointments, the set-backs—and not mind at all.

Look far!

MOTHER AND THE STYLES.

Dresses high and dresses low,
Fashion bids them come and go;
Tresses bobbed and tresses long,
Fashion sways the moving throng;
What was new becomes the old,
Thus this changing life is told.
First we view it with a smile,
Then adopt the latest style—
But with all the passing days,
Mothers never change the ways.

Gay of heart and bright of face,
Fashion seems to rule the place
With the swinging of the clock
Youth gives age another shock,
Flaunting into public view
Something Age would never do,
Laughing at us when we preach,
Scornful of us when we teach—
But with all of fashion's wiles,
Mothers never change their styles.

Motherhood's no fickle thing,
To be changed each fall and spring;
As it was so it remains,
Spite of all its cares and pains.
Joy may call and pleasure lure
But a mother's love is pure,
And the baby sinks to rest,
Pillowed on her lovely breast,
Closing little drowsy eyes
To the softest lullabies.

Mothers worry night and day
When their children are away;
Mothers grieve when they are ill,
Always have and always will
They would shield you with their care
Every day and everywhere,
And they're happy through and through
At the slightest smile from you—
To the ending of their days
Mothers never change their ways.

YOU AND I

MARKS.

The paper mark is gradually going out of circulation in Germany. Worthlessness is repudiating the mark out of existence.

In its place, Germans are beginning to use foreign money. English pound and American dollar lead in popularity.

Primitive barter also comes in. Two typical cases. A Prussian farm is rented for 6500 pounds of butter a year. A church concert in a Wurttemberg village charges two eggs admission.

Meanwhile, Germany works busily. Money is important, but not indispensable.

WAR.

France and England race to outbuild each other in battle airplanes. Tension between the two countries is serious enough to add a few more white hairs to diplomats' heads.

You reflect, "One'd think they'd had enough of wars." If things came to a showdown, events would prove you right. Another big European war is not probable—yet. Have to wait until the people have saved enough to pay for the last one and finance another. War and thrift are blood relations.

DRAMATIC.

Theatrical sensation abroad is a satirical play, "The Life of the Insects." It is having a big run at the National Theater of Prague. Brady, New York producer, has bought the movie and stage rights for America.

Characters in the play are made up like huge beetles and other insects. Allegorically they portray the three stages of man's existence—love, action and agony. Those three words accurately sum up every human lifetime.

ICE.

One million dollars a day is what ice costs the American people. The national ice bill for 70 years is as big as the present national debt.

Paying for our ice until 1892 is not going to start an economic earthquake. Why worry, then, about the national debt. Somehow, a dollar handled by Uncle Sam looks 10 times as big as a dollar handled by the individual American.

CONVENIENCE.

With Americans using a billion dollars worth of ice every three years, a man with a shovel-type of brains digs up this interesting fact. The first artificial ice was not made until the last year of the Civil war.

As late as 1880, only 37 ice factories in the whole country. Now the ice plants number into the thousands and turn out over 80,000,000 tons of ice a year. Thousands of conveniences like ice, we take for granted, do not appreciate our comforts as compared with our ancestors. However, while we have more conveniences, we also have more discomforts.

DOLLS.

American toy exporting firm gets this letter from a customer in Lucknow, India: "The sample wax dolls is all running away, owing to equatorial heat of India summer. Eight china dolls is to hand with six broken noses and nine cats is come with only seven tails. The leopards is too much deficient in spots for our climate."

Very easy to talk glibly about building up foreign trade. Not so easy, when you try it. Its basis, like everything else worthwhile, is infinite attention to details.

HAPPINESS AND HEALTH

By DR. R. H. BISHOP.

Happiness and health have been found to be pretty good friends. They work together wonderfully. So remember, in your search for happiness, that its good friend, health, probably is just around the corner.

Happiness works on our health in this way:

A happy state of mind permits the expansion of small blood vessels, allowing fresh blood to flow easily through them. It also affects the nerves that control the lungs. They inhale more air, which means that they get more oxygen, and this in turn means that the blood is more completely purified in the lungs. It makes the heart beat more evenly and this forces blood rapidly through the expanded blood vessels. Rapidly moving blood gives rich nourishment to nerve cell and muscle, making it possible for them to do good, energetic work. Lastly, a happy state of mind makes the stomach churn better and at the same time more gastric juice pours in to aid in digestion.

This explains why we do better work when we are happy.

Happiness means that every organ is doing its best work, and the brain gets the benefit of this through an improved blood supply.

The human machine is so delicately balanced that, when the smallest part of it fails, the entire workings may halt. It is, like an engine no matter how perfect every other part of it may be, if one little detail is broken, it cannot go on.

Many people have found that they must be calm and serene at mealtime if they would retain their good health. Thousands of cases have proved that bad digestion comes from bad disposition and not a bad disposition from a bad digestion, as so many imagine.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY.

Today's word is—heterogeneous.

It's pronounced—hot-er-o-je-ne-us, with accent slightly upon the first and more strongly upon the fourth syllables.

It means—differing in kind; having unlike qualities, possessing different characteristics dissimilar.

It comes from—a combination of Greek words meaning, respectively, "other" and "race" or "kind."

It's used like this—"There are certain laws concerning the desirability of which it is very difficult to secure agreement in the United States, owing to the heterogeneous character of the population."

HAVING A HARD T IME TO GET IT LIT

RESURRECTION ROCK

by Edwin Balmer

So alarming was the consequence of this that Bennet could not at once realize it was simply a consequence. He jumped up in fright, imagining that his grandfather suddenly had suffered from a cramp or other physical seizure.

"Why, grandfather, you want some whiskey? I'll get you—"

Lucas controlled himself and stood up. "Indigestion," he mumbled. "Caviar here tonight. Go on, what else happened?"

When Bennet informed him that nothing else transpired at the seance, he thought for a while that his grandson was concealing something; but at last he satisfied himself that he knew all, and he went to his room.

For Lucas never did anything at all at Galilee except meet James Quinlan there and there direct J. Q. to the deed that was to be done.

It was marvelous how, throughout the forty-six years which had passed since that meeting, Lucas had carried consciousness of his own guilt always associated with the place of meeting—"Galilee." He had not known that Quinlan had done so too. He had supposed that Quinlan had lived out his life with a different association. And yet this was natural enough.

"Natural enough!" Lucas muttered to himself. "Galilee!"

But J. Q. was dead. Kinchelos had put his body in the lake. Who, then, knew about Galilee and could associate it with a flaming torch? No one else in all the world but Lucas himself! Yet Ethel and that Loutrelle and Bennet had found out.

By God, if they drew "Galilee" and the torch from him, what else could they draw? If they obtained it from the dead, how much more would the dead tell!

That was a staggerer for Lucas who had acted upon the simple and effective formula that dead men tell no tales. "Galilee and a flaming torch!" Lucas winced and swung back to his window. So old J. Q., though dead, had told? How could Lucas shut up a ghost?

An idea half formed, seized him, and he stood stark. It progressed in his mind; and he laughed. In a reaction, it revolted himself; he discarded it, but it came back to him, more convincingly, more complete and it promised him triumph.

It was after nine the next morning before Ethel awoke, and then it was so delightful to lie in bed dreaming over the hours of the evening, that she made no stir and it was ten when a maid knocked at her door. She answered joyously. "Some one for me?"

"Yes, Miss Carew. Mr. Lucas Cullen, your grandfather."

Ethel hastened down and found her grandfather, with his overcoat on and holding his hat in his gloved hand, standing in the center of the drawing room and gazing critically about.

"You little fool!" he accused her commiseratingly. "Can't you feel even when your own flesh and blood tries to protect you?"

"From what, grandfather?"

"Had it ever occurred to you that the reason your father never came to my house was that he couldn't?"

"No," Ethel said.

"Think over it a minute."

"Why?"

"Why wouldn't I have him there? He couldn't tell you. I wouldn't. I thought I'd never have to, but you've forced me. This fellow you call Loutrelle—"

"You believe that your father—so Bennet's been telling me—got in touch with this fellow called Loutrelle after your father died? That started your interest in him?"

"Yes."

"Why do you suppose your father did that? Why did he pick him, I mean?"

"Why—why, grandfather, he was going to meet me. Father knew that some way—"

"Tomfoolery! Look here, your father was killed, and after he was dead—so you think—he tried to talk to this Loutrelle. So let's just take your own information. Your father's spirit, the first thing after he was named Barney Loutrelle. Now spirits dead goes about looking for a fellow—all I've heard of—usually go first for those closest to 'em, don't they?"

"Why, usually, grandfather."

"Well, what make you think this is an exception?"

Ethel shrank back, comprehending less his words than the ugliness of his inflection.

"What do you mean?" she demanded.

"Well, who more natural for a father to seek than his son?"

Ethel hastened down and found her Grandfather.

"My father!" Ethel said. "You're talking about my father?"

"Before he was your father. I knew him. He was about St. Florentin quite a little in the old days—quite a little. You may remember I would not have him marry my daughter. So they ran off. I knew—there was a girl to go to Resurrection Rock."

Ethel flung herself at him and with her little fists clenched tight she pummeled him on the chest. "You lie—you lie—you lie! My father! You lie—you lie—"

He caught her fists and held her brutally before him. He saw that he had not at all convinced her, but he had not expected to simply by this statement of the false before combining it with what was true. He was too old and shrewd in experience to fail to know how a truth told may carry with it a lie.

"Who was his father then?" he demanded of his granddaughter, half shaking her. "Do you know? Then tell me! I don't know, of course, paternity's not like maternity, but his mother—do you know who she was? Agnes here!" Suddenly he dropped Ethel and gestured horridly with both hands. "Your father and your father's friend—Agnes!"

"Oh! Oh! God!" Ethel cried.

Her grandfather said not another word; he stood for only a moment more looking at her then satisfied, he pulled on his hat and stalked to the door.

In the whirl of her emotions, she was endeavoring to fasten thought upon Barney only as cousin Agnes's son but against her will and revolting her thoughts of her father would come in.

Oh last night he had taken her as a lover. Agnes's son—and—her father's? She was here in Agnes's house—Agnes who might have been—might have been—

She heard some one coming and, starting up, she saw cousin Agnes's housekeeper. Mrs. Wain, usually so calm, so completely in control of herself, advanced under a nervous tension which visibly shook her slight body. Her words confessed she had been listening.

"What was he saying to you of Mrs. Oliver Cullen?" she besought her, hands trembling on Ethel's shoulder. "What was he telling to you? Oh, you must tell me, he said Mrs. Cullen—"

"Nothing about her now!" Ethel cried. "I mean, he was talking about her long ago. But—but" suddenly she collapsed in the housekeeper's arms. "I'm going away home to Wyoming, Mrs. Wain. You must help me off. And if Mr. Loutrelle calls for me or telephones, I can not speak to him! I can't see him! Perhaps—perhaps I can write. I must never meet him again."

CHAPTER XVI

Early that afternoon Lucas's dependable operative reported that he had followed Ethel Carew to the Union Station where she purchased a ticket and boarded a train for Sheridan, Wyoming. She had been unattended and plainly under the stress of strong emotion.

What Ethel had told Barney was brief and simple in its final statement.

Dear Barney:

"I have found that I must leave at once for my home. Some time later I shall know how to explain what must seem madness to you. Now I can not.

"Where you are and how you are and what you are doing remain with me the most important thing in my life, so you must let me know all about yourself. My address will be Sheridan, Wyoming.

ETHEL."

It was several days later that Mrs. Wain, the housekeeper, phoned a request for him to call.

"I speak to you, sir," Mrs. Wain said breathlessly, after she had sunk into the seat, "upon my own responsibility, sir, entirely. So I must ask you, before I say another word, to give me your word as a gentleman that you will make no use of what I shall tell—unless I allow you."

Barney felt his pulses pounding again. "What is it?" he demanded.

"You will meet me, sir—when you're sure you're not followed?"

"Where?"

"At the corner of Tenth and Wabash."

Barney went immediately downtown. He had to wait on the corner only a few minutes before Mrs. Wain drove up in a taxi and invited him in.

"St. Luke's Hospital," she said to the driver, and when the door was closed, she vouchsafed to Barney, "She's had another operation; it was performed the day before yesterday. She rallied at first but sank later."

Still the housekeeper gave no intimation of who "she" was; and Barney was aware that direct inquiry would be vain.

Barney did not know her, when the nurse, who had been beside the bed, moved away, and Mrs. Wain held back and Barney advanced alone, he was not conscious of ever having seen the woman who lay on her side with her profile plain against the pillow. Yet a fluttering of awe—of more than awe—came over him as he halted silently beside the bed.

Her face, as she lay turned toward him, was beautiful, though illness and intense suffering she had surely endured. Her skin was clear and her hair—black and abundant—had clung to its luster as had her dark brows and the lashes which lay on her cheek. Even now the indomitable soul of her—that essence of her spirit which persisted through consciousness long was gone—was keeping up the fight, Barney felt. And he wanted her to win oh, how he wanted her to win!

It seemed to him he had never wished so for another's life, and why? Because, for the first time, he was beside some one who belonged to him by blood? Because she was his—mother?

Secondary Hurlers Are Unable to Deliver And Gassers Beat Spudders

SHREVEPORT, LA Sept 8—The fever ridden Spudders were unable to gain the decision over the Gassers here yesterday in a see saw contest and as a result saw their pennant chances go a glimmering while the Cats were licking the Giants

With his first string hurlers either down with the dengue or overworked the Spudder skipper took a chance with Jackson the pitcher obtained from the Cleveland Indians It was Edmondson's first start and was a brief one He started off like a whirlwind but as the game progressed he became wilder and easier to hit He was yanked at the close of the fifth and Hub Perdue ascended the hillock Hub had absolutely nothing with which to fool the home clan He managed to get the first two men to face him out of the way but he hasn't got the third man out yet Three line singles and an intentional walk proved his undoing and a frantic call was sent out for Ruth to stem the tide He stemmed it but not until he had been greeted with a triple which sent two more tallies over the dish One more run was gleaned off him before the game ended

Slim Slappey started on the mound for the Gassers but he was given the air in the seventh after walking the first two men to face him Lohman who replaced him was not much better but he was stronger in the pinches than any other twirler who had worked for either side and he pulled his mates through safely

It was anybody's game until the last man was out The Gassers hopped off to a two run lead in the second on a double triple and single in the order named but the Spudders overcame it in the fourth They scored once in the third on a pass, sacrifice and Adams single and two in the fourth on McDonald's circuit drive over the right field fence and singles by Miller Beck and Edmondson

The Solmites held this one run lead until the fifth when the Gassers forged ahead again by scoring two runs on a pass sacrifice single and White's error

In the Spudder sixth the Gasser lead was wiped out once more on a pass Miller's double an infield out and Bischoff's sacrifice fly In the last of the inning however the home crew iced the game by scoring four runs after two were down Ezzell and Jackson singled and Felix was purposely passed This move proved unwise as Smith slapped a single to center which scored two Exit Perdue enter Ruth Duren greeted Belo with his second triple of the game which scored two more over and Vann finally lined to Adams for the third out

Each club scored once more in the seventh The Spudders chased their's over on two passes and Summa's single They filled the bases before the second man was out, but Miller and Beck were found wanting in the pinch The last Gasser tally was the result of White's fumble an infield out and Ezzell's single

The Outlook.

What must we do now to win? Take all remaining games while the Giants are beating the Cats at least once Of course if the Cats should quite defeat twice we can afford to lose another game to Shreveport In other words, the Cats need three more games to assure them of the pennant If they win three more the Spudders won't have a mathematical chance Stay with em while there's life there's hope

Listen to the Wolves

The leather lunged sidewalk managers who have been crying ever since the Spudders lost three games in Fort Worth broke out in another torrent of abuse Thursday following the loss to Shreveport These second guessers will be able to tell Salm what he should have done when the club returns Monday Will they? Hardly They'll gather in knots around the corners and roast him among themselves. Some may even hide in the crowd that will turn out to witness the games and voice their sentiments so a few surrounding fans will hear them but they'll not tell Walter personally However these razzers and people who cannot take defeat gracefully but must always whimper are so far in the minority that little attention is paid to them They hold the floor while expressing themselves because they usually talk so loud nobody else has a chance but they get the horse laugh when they finish You'll find them on all the corners and every place the fans congregate

Turn Out Monday

The fair minded fan who loves baseball for itself has nothing but words of praise for the entire club They'll be out en masse to welcome the boys back Monday regardless of their position in the standing A manager and a club never made a gamer fight against overwhelming odds than the Spudders of 1922 Without them there would have been no Texas league race They've all made mistakes but they've been fewer this season than ever before A glance at the standing shows that Walter and his cohorts were right far more often than wrong Every city can't have a winner It isn't every club that can work in unison as have the Spudders when the members have never played together before

The Difference.

Jake Atz had a nucleus of veterans who had played together for years around which to build his club Of his 1921 champions he had Kraft, Hoffman Phelan Coombs, Sears Moore Haworth Johns Wachtel Tate Goodbred and Whittaker—each a seasoned veteran What did Salm have in the line of veterans who had worked together before Miller McDonald (who has played the outfield practically all season) Tanner (at a new position) Kitchens Bischoff Ruth and Ramsey and a gob of second rate material which couldn't stick through the first half Yet he developed a team which has had Fort Worth on the anxious list since the opening gong

No Alibis

Should the Spudders lose the flag Walter Salm will offer no alibis He said that in Dallas Give him his regulars in condition and he'll play with any of them on the ball field That's where he won his games this year on the diamond not behind closed doors

Kitchens Back

Frank Kitchens returned to Wichita Falls Thursday much the worse for his attack of the dengue fever He is far from a well man yet and looks the part The three Spudders who were stricken with the fever (Flaherty Bes hor and Kitchens) roomed together in Galveston. Perdue was also in the same stall Hub must have the fever and not know it judging from his last two starts.

Wichita Falls Entrants Making Great Showing In Rivercrest Tourney

FORT WORTH Sept 8—Golfing enthusiasts will witness four of the most closely contested of the present series today when Tom Cochran and Morris Gordon meet in the first flight in the fourth annual Rivercrest invitation tournament Cochran figures an edge because of superior experience but Gordon is a steady golfer and deadly on the greens

Happy Massingill and Will Hill Acker of Commerce tie up in the second flight in the afternoon round the winners of the Cochran Gordon and Massingill Acker matches will meet to settle the finalists in the top bracket

In the bottom bracket morning round will be found Louis Jacoby hooked up with Dudley Golding This match will probably draw the largest gallery White Jacoby probably figures the best in experience Golding is a tough proposition in match play and the wise ones around No 1 tee are laying a little jack on the Wichita Falls entry

In the bottom brace Fred Cahoon will take on W L Norton of Wichita Falls While neither of these are picked as champions still they are about equal in play and the match should finish somewhere around the 18 cup

In the afternoon the winner of the Jacoby Golding match will tackle either Cahoon or Norton to decide the finalist Thus at least four tight tussels are on the card for today—maybe six

Machine Cut Ice

—and what it means to you

In the past all ice cut for delivery on routes has had to be cut with ice picks A slow, hap-hazzard, guesswork method No matter how experienced the ice man might be he could not at all times cut even weight pieces. A block would break wrong or sliver off, his guess at the weight would be wrong and inadvently the customer would get a piece of ice that would not be correct in weight.

Every block of ice delivered by our wagons is cut (or scored) before leaving our plant by our perfection ice scoring machine in even cut, full weight pieces.

There is no guesswork, you don't have to take somebody's word for the weight, machine precision assures you full weight at all times

The installation of this machine is in keeping with the policy of this company to always give their customers the benefit of the latest and most modern methods in the delivery of ice

One week later he made a second start against Washington and shut out the Nationals 3 to 0 allowing only five hits

Pretty fast get away for a 22 year old recruit

There is a bit of sport romance in the rise of Stubby Mack to the ambition of every [illegible] who can play ball—he in major leagues

Seven Years Ago

Seven years ago the Chicago White Sox played an exhibition game at San Diego Calif They [illegible] on the coast that year—1915—and [illegible] there was an exhibition game at San Diego [illegible] off [illegible] the exhibition

In the course of the San Diego game a little Mexican boy sneaked along the White Sox bench [illegible] Ray Schalk's favorite catching mitt under his blouse and started for the Mexican quarter of the town

Stubby Mack then a youngster of 15 saw the theft and gave chase After catching the fugitive it was necessary for Stubby to display his fistic superiority before he regained possession of the glove

When he returned the glove to Schalk he was presented with four [illegible] and an old glove for his trouble

Still Wears Glove

[illegible] years later Mack made his [illegible] as a major league pitcher with Schalk as his battery partner It sounds like a baseball fairy tale but it is in fact and just goes to prove that truth often is stranger than fiction

Mack is a product of St Mary's college Oakland which has given to the major leagues such stars as Harry Hooper Duffy Lewis Dutch Leonard Lefty Gomez besides many other big league celebrities

Success as a college pitcher caused Stubby to take a whirl in the minors

Tried the Minors

Last year he was with Calgary in the Western Canada league This year he went to Seattle of the Pacific Coast league

Report has it that Chicago gave Pitcher Ferdie Schupp and $25 000 for Mack The latter came high but his work in his first starts makes it look as if he were worth it

Mack is a right hander He measures about six feet and weighs around 180 pounds He has good speed and an excellent curve If he comes through as Robertson Leverette and Bert Ashby did the White Sox will start 1 23 with a formidable pitching staff

Ham for Early Fall, and Some Delicious Tested Recipes for It

Late summer and early fall days are ham days. The weather is still warm and frequently uncomfortably hot as the dinner hour approaches and any meat that lends itself to serving more than one day is doubly welcome

Just now ham not only does this but it also has the advantage of having declined in prices at wholesale from 15 to 20 per cent in the last few weeks

Naturally the cheapest way to buy ham is to buy it whole—or at least a half one Getting it that way you can serve your family two or more good thick broiled slices out of the juicy centre and yet have plenty left for many delectable dishes.

The butt of the ham is best baked and when this is done as it should be done, no meat is more delicious And after the first good dinner is over there is sufficient left to insure a luncheon or two and at least one real dinner with it sliced cold and served temptingly on cool lettuce leaves with potato salad and sliced tomatoes.

The shank readily lends itself to cooking either in the fireless cooker or the pressure cooker, with vegetables Either way is good for summer, as there is a minimum of heat and a maximum of good food.

The recipes below are all good and may be depended upon to cheer the men folk of the family:

Baked Ham.

Use the butt of the ham for baking. Put it over the fire in a deep kettle with enough cold water to cover it. Add a dozen cloves, ½ cup vinegar, 1 minced onion and simmer it slowly about 30 minutes to the pound.

Remove from water, peel off skin, and stud the soft fat with cloves. Cover with a mixture of ½ cup brown or granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 cups sweet cider, and ½ teaspoon mustard.

Bake until nicely browned, basting several times with the liquid. When baked, remove ham to a hot platter and make a gravy from the liquid in the pan, adding flour and water.

Boiled Ham.

Cover the shank of a ham with cold water: bring to boil, then simmer until tender, about 30 minutes to the pound.

One hour before ham is done add ½ dozen potatoes, a small head of cabbage, cut up in pieces, 4 carrots, cubed, 3 small onions and 1 pint string beans in season.

Place the ham in the center of a hot platter and arrange the vegetables around it.

Ham and Poached Eggs.

Make a white sauce, using 1½ cups milk, 3 tablespoons flour, and 3 tablespoons butter or oleomargarine heat 1 or 2 cups finely chopped or ground cooked ham with the white sauce, pour it over buttered toast.

Serve one piece of toast, with creamed ham on it, and one poached egg to each person

Baked Slice of Ham.

1 slice ham, 1½ inches to 2 inches thick.
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup brown sugar
2 cup milk

Combine mustard and sugar and rub over the surface of the ham. Put it in a casserole or baking dish, pour the milk over it, cover and bake it in quite a hot oven for 26 minutes.

Fried Ham.

It is not necessary to parboil ham before broiling or frying. Caramelize 1 tablespoon sugar in a frying pan, add a slice of ham, cut about ½ inch thick and brown it on both sides. Cover with milk and cook slowly, covered, for 10 minutes.

Lift the ham out, thicken the gravy and serve with mashed potatoes or fried sweet potatoes. This gravy has a delicious flavor.

Ham Souffle.

3 tablespoons butter or oleomargarine.
3 cups scalded milk.
3 tablespoons flour.
½ teaspoon salt.
1-3 cup bread crumbs
2 cups cooked ham, ground.
yolks of 3 eggs, beaten well.
Whites 3 eggs, beaten stiff
Grated cheese.
Buttered bread crumbs.

Make a sauce from the milk, fat, flour and salt, and add the bread crumbs, cook a few minutes.

Remove from the heat, add the ham and the egg yolks, and fold the egg whites in carefully. Spread buttered bread crumbs over the top and sprinkle with grated cheese.

Bake in a well-greased baking dish about half an hour in a moderate oven

Broiled Ham and Sweet Potatoes

It is not necessary to parboil ham before broiling or frying

Boil sweet potatoes until tender. Skin them and slice them lengthwise into a greased baking dish. Moisten with sugar syrup (1 cup sugar and ½ cup water boiled till thick).

Place a medium thick slice of ham on top of the sweet potatoes Broil it on the top side, turn the ham over when done and broil on the other side Serve at once.

Plain Baked Ham.

Put ham into a large pan. Cover with cold water and add ½ dozen cloves. Simmer the ham about 30 minutes to the pound, or until tender

Cool it in the liquor and take off the rind Sprinkle the fat with bread crmubs and brown sugar Bake about 20 minutes in a hot oven to brown it.

'Monte Cristo' to Be on Exhibition All of the Week

Announcement is made by Manager Day of the Strand theatre that "Monte Christo" will be shown for the remainder of the week to accommodate those who were unable to gain admission during the four days originally booked. The picture which is one of the best that has been exhibited in Wichita Falls, has attracted capacity houses and the advertising given the film by patrons has created a demand for further showing. Reports coming to Manager Day from Burkburnett and Electra indicate that there will be a large number from those places to see the film during Saturday.

Thursday about 250 of the "Knot Hole Gang" were guests of Manager Day at a free showing for their entertainment and a better pleased or more delighted bunch of young Americans would be hard to find.

Don't Pay All You Make On Grocery Bills

HOUSE-WIVES
HERE'S GOOD NEWS

Everyone Should Read This—Because, We Are All Interested in Something to Eat

First we want to thank the people of Wichita Falls for our success with our Ohio street store, also for the nice business we have had with our No. 2 store on Indiana. To show our appreciation to the buying public we have decided to reduce the selling price on practically every item in the stores. The prices are exactly the same in both stores.

We invite the public to visit our stores, inspect the stock from front to back, the grade of merchandise and our way of doing business. Once you visit one of these stores you will readily see why the Piggly-Wiggly system has grown from one store to one thousand in less than five years.

Cleanliness is our motto. Our store is just as clean in the back as it is in the front. We don't ask you to pay clerk hire, you wait on yourself and save that extra expense. We don't ask you to pay the expenses of a collector, book-keeper, bad check chaser, because we have none of these things. You just pay for what you want at the very lowest selling price possible.

With 1000 stores to buy for, naturally we can buy most of our merchandise so we can sell it right. We make our money on quick turnovers. Come to the Piggly-Wiggly Saturday and see if our prices are not right. Take a pencil and figure 15 per cent saved in one month on a $35.00 grocery bill. See what you have been donating every month that you could have been saving. A Piggly-Wiggly is the Housewifes pantry. She comes into the store, gets a basket on her arm, goes through the isles, selects what she wants to cook. Nobody trys to sell her something she doesn't want. A clerk isn't always trying to sell her a brand that is supposed to be just as good as the brand she prefers.

DON'T FORGET WE HAVE MADE A GENERAL REDUCTION IN ALL PRICES

COTTON MARKET

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 5 to 8 points in response to rather disappointing Liverpool cables and expectation of heavy ginning returns. There was considerable scattered southern selling and the market worked off to 21.08 for December shortly after the call, or about 12 to 17 points net lower but some of yesterday's sellers were good buyers on this decline and December soon firmed up some five or six points on covering. The outlook for cooler weather in the southwest was considered favorable but otherwise there was no change in the crop news and there was probably some early buying on reports of a more active business in cotton goods.

There was a flurry of liquidation on scattered selling on the census report showing 817,171 bales ginned to September 1, compared with 485,787 last year. This was evidently taken to mean that cotton was rapidly becoming available in the south but the most general comment was that the comparatively heavy ginning reflected premature opening and after selling off to 20.95 for December or 30 points net lower the market rallied to 21.49 for that delivery, or 30 points net higher on trade buying and covering.

The large ginning to the first of September 817,171 bales, according to the census bureau, stimulated selling for a while, under which prices fell to net declines of 21 to 44 points, October dropping to 20.02, persistent reports of progress with negotiations to end the rail strikes and prospects of more or less rain in the western belt which it was felt would do great injury to open cotton, caused a new buying wave and during trading up to 11:00 o'clock prices rallied to advances of 31 to 44 points over yesterday's finals, October was forced upward to 20.75.

The market advanced to 21.65 for December during the early afternoon of about 30 to 45 points net higher but met a little more realizing at the higher prices and was nine or 10 points off from the best around 2:00 o'clock.

Cotton closed steady.

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8.—Poor cables stimulated considerable liquidation of long contracts in the early trading in cotton today but after declines of 22 to 27 points the market rallied on reports from many points in the belt that cotton was all open and with continued dry weather, would be all picked out in an unusually short time. At the end of the first hour of trading prices were five points down to two points up, compared with the close of yesterday. October fell off to 20.20 and recovered to 20.41.

Mill takings were disappointing, 151,000 bales against 227,000 bales this week last year and the market eased off moderately, standing at 12:30 o'clock at 20.68 for October with the trading months at net declines of 19 to 23 points.

Cotton closed steady at net advances of 40 to 45 points.

CHICAGO PRODUCE

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—General commission house buying based on higher quotations at Liverpool led to a sharp upturn here in the price of wheat today during the early dealings. It was said large orders to purchase Canadian wheat were in the market. Gossip was current that France would require 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 tons of wheat before the harvest of 1922-23 was available. The opening, which ranged from 8 to 4c higher, with December 1.02½@1.02¾ and May 1.03 to 1.08¼, was followed by a slight reaction.

Owing to wet weather, hedging pressure in the northwest was less in evidence than of late. The government crop report due after the close was expected to show a small increase in the estimated yield of spring grain. The close was unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ½c higher, with December 1.02½@1.02¾ and May $1.07½@1.07¾.

Profit taking on the part of holders checked the advance in the values of corn and oats. After opening ¼c off to ¼c higher, December 58c, the corn market held near to the initial range.

Reported rains in Iowa and Nebraska tended subsequently to deter buyers. The close was easy at the same as yesterday's finish to ¼c lower, with December 57¾@57½c.

Oats started unchanged to ¼c higher, December 36½c to 36¾c, and later showed but little change.

Provisions were without any notable change, dealers apparently awaiting developments in the corn and hog market.

Give your stomach a chance! Eat Kellogg's CORN FLAKES extra-refreshing with fresh fruit!

Agree to eat lighter foods this summer and you'll feel a lot cheerier and work and think a lot better! Heavy, greasy foods in hot weather dull the mind and slow you up physically and mentally! Every man, woman and child would enjoy better health if they ate sustaining, easily digested food such as Kellogg's Corn Flakes.

And, eat Kellogg's liberally—all you want; let the little folks and the old folks have their fill, for Kellogg's Corn Flakes are not only beneficial, but with Kellogg's you use plenty of health-giving milk! And, you never tasted more delicious food than Kellogg's Corn Flakes, particularly when eaten with the luscious fruits now in season!

Think of Kellogg's Corn Flakes as the perfect breakfast cereal; as the cooling, refreshing lunch for the hottest day—served with fresh fruit—and for the daintiest, most satisfying dessert for the evening meal served with fresh fruit and cream!

Insist upon Kellogg's—the kind in the RED and GREEN package that bears the signature of W. K. Kellogg, originator of Corn Flakes. None are genuine without it!

CULL THE FLOCK IS ADVICE GIVEN BY CHICKEN MAN

M. B OATES GIVES ADVICE AND SHOWS HOW FLOCK CAN BE CULLED.

PENS CONTAIN 38 PER CENT BAD LAYERS

If Hens Have Yellow Bills and Legs They Should Be Sold Immediately.

The time of the year has arrived when all flocks of chickens should be culled M B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth & Denver City Railroad company, points out the necessity of culling the bad hens from the good ones and advises that every owner of chickens cull the flock at this time

Experience has shown that the average percentage of culls in flocks in Texas each year is 38 per cent. Last year Mr. Oates helped cull 11,366 chickens In this number 4,000 were found to be early molting hens and consequently bad layers

Reliable methods of culling out the poor layers has been known and practiced for over four years and Mr. Oates points out the positive outward appearances that characterize a poor laying hen. He states that it does not require an expert to cull the flock

In appearance the good laying hen is characterized by old and worn plumage Hens who molt before August 1 are considered early molters and should be culled.

A good layer, Mr Oates stated, has a faded beak and faded appearing legs. This, he explained, is caused as the result of the system utilizing all the yellow matter in the coloring of the yolk of the egg The poor layer, however possesses yellow looking beak and legs

The comb of a good laying hen is also large and red while that of the poor layer is dried up and gets scurfy

The good laying hen is also the hard worker She is the first one off the roost in the morning and the last one back on in the evening During the day she is active while the poor laying hen lays around in the shade and combs her feathers.

Mr Oates stated that many people harbor the idea that the early molting hen is the hen that lays in the winter time This he points out, is erroneous as the early molter does not begin laying again until spring, just about the time when eggs are selected for hatching purposes This he said was another reason why the poor layers should be gotten rid of as the eggs the poor layer produces will, in turn, hatch out another set of poor layers

In order for chicken raisers to have eggs for sale in early winter when prices are high, Mr. Oates suggests that each flock should have coming on an early hatched bunch of pullets. These, he said, will begin laying about the first of November.

The average number of eggs per Texas hen is only 65. This average could be brought up above the 100 mark, Mr. Oates said, if farmers and chicken raisers would cull their flocks each fall.

TEXAS AND CALIFORNIA HENS IN A CLOSE RACE

COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS, Sept. 8.—The highest pen of five birds for the month of August in the Texas national egg laying contest being conducted at the A. & M. college of Texas under the supervision of T. J. Conway, poultry husbandman, was one of S. C white leghorns owned by D. B. Walls of Petaluma, Cal. Their production was 75 eggs Another pen of S. C. white leghorns owned by J. T. Ramage of Temple was second with a production of 72 eggs. Barred plymouth rocks owned by M. A. Lee of Seadrift were third with a production of 61 eggs.

The first and second highest individuals were both S C white leghorns and belonged to C. M. Evans of Bryan. Their records were 23 and 22 eggs respectively The two hens were also the highest individuals for the month of July.

The highest pen to date is one of S. C. white leghorns belonging to D. B. Walls of Petaluma. The production of the five birds for the 10 months that the contest has been running is 196 eggs. Barred plymouth rocks owned by Mr. Lee of Seadrift are leading the California birds a close race with a total production of 758 eggs A S. C. Rhode Island red entered by J W. Lee of Lometa is the leading individual layer in the contest for the 10 months past. Her record for the period is 212 eggs.

The contest will close and the winners be announced on October 31. The sixth annual contest will begin the day following. Entries for the contest will be accepted until October 16.

WHOLESALE MERCHANTS ENJOY BUSY SEASON

DALLAS, Sept. 8.—Wholesale merchants of Dallas are enjoying a successful fall buying season, it is reported by the Dallas chamber of commerce. Fully 66 2-3 per cent more retailers have visited the city market so far this season than at a corresponding period last year, it is shown. Records of the transportation department of the chamber show that the tonnage going out of Dallas represents a marked increase over last buying season, it is said.

POLICE SEIZE BIG LOAD OF TOBACCO, THIEVES GET AWAY

A Dodge car containing several hundred dollars' worth of cigarettes and chewing tobacco was captured early Friday by Officers Sid Johnson and Charles Bebout, after a spectacular chase through the southeastern part of the city

The occupants of the car three in number, abandoned it and fled just in time to avoid capture. The engine number had been filed from the machine, and it is thought to have been stolen.

The loot consisted of six boxes of "111" cigarettes, one box of Beech-Nut cigarettes and six cases of chewing tobacco

Railroad officials reported to the police Friday morning that several box cars were broken open during the night, but it was not known just what was missing.

Officers Bebout and Johnson were in the police car, on another call, when they noticed the other machine More on a hunch than anything else, they decided to follow it, and when its driver started turning down unfrequented streets, doubling on his tracks, and the like, the officers settled down to chase it in earnest As it crossed a road leading over the irrigation ditch, the police car overtook it Before the officers could stop and get out, the three fugitives had leaped from their machine and sped away in the darkness.

The cigarettes and tobacco were consigned from a Fort Worth wholesaler to local and northwest Texas dealers.

PUP IS GUARDED IN EFFORT TO LOCATE PURSE

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8—A pup here perhaps is puzzled at the ardent attention he has been receiving. The reason is that it is hoped that the pup will lead his present admirers to a hidden treasurer of $225. The manner in which city detective Hale tells the story is this. "A citizen decided to take a nap on his front porch, and while asleep a wallet which contained $225 fell from his pocket. In the neighborhood is a pup who hasn't the discrimination to distinguish between a nice old shoe and a valuable pocketbook and it is believed that he found the purse and carried it away and buried it as a treasure to be dug up later and properly gnawed."

Hale said he had exhausted every other possible clew to disappearance of the money and now the dog is under close observation.

HEAT WAVES STILL WAVING AND 107 DEGREES REACHED

The summer heat waves are still waving and flirting, with the thermometer and Thursday afternoon the mercury in the bulb reached 107 degrees as the high mark for the day. This point was reached shortly after three o'clock and remained there but a few minutes. It then dropped down to 106 degrees and remained there for over an hour

During the night it receded to the 84 degree mark as the minimum temperature

Partly clouded skies were reported by agents on the local railroads Friday morning A light breeze from the south was also reported from all points.

IN WACO TO PREPARE FOR REUNION OF THE 36TH

WACO TEXAS, Sept. 8—Lieut Col. F A. Weatherred, acting chief of staff of the Thirty-Sixth Division is here to take charge of arrangements to be made for the reunion of that division. It will be held on September 12 and 13, during the time the state convention of the American Legion is in session here. Lieut. Col. Weatherred came here under order from Adjutant General T. D Barton.

CALOMEL GOOD BUT AWFUL TREACHEROUS

Next Dose May Salivate, Shock Liver or Attack Your Bones

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate. (adv.)

NORTHWEST TEXAS FARMERS IN NEED OF COTTON PICKERS

Calls for cotton pickers are coming into Wichita Falls from various parts of northwest Texas In this immediate vicinity the need for pickers seems pretty well supplied, but in Knox, Baylor and Wilbarger counties farmers are calling for help.

The police department's employment bureau is acting as a clearing house for pickers, and will endeavor to find jobs for any who want them.

ADDITIONAL AUTO LINES OPERATING OUT OF CITY NOW

Curtailment of train service on railroads entering Wichita Falls has given service car operators an opportunity of which they are taking full advantage. In addition to regular runs to Iowa Park, Electra and Burkburnett, maintained for some time, automobile service is now offered to Lawton, Vernon, Seymour and Fort Worth.

The fare to Fort Worth is $5 each way, which means that a driver who gets a full load of six each way receives $60 for the round trip.
